Citrus on the terrace winter

A gardener picks a lemon in the cooler hours. Zest reaches the kitchen first; leaves and blossom perfume the path towards the lower terrace.

This note is part of the 2012 Tiera house collection. The press office can arrange further background, interviews and a selection of photographs.