Dinner on the roof winter

The light on the water fades slowly. The rooftop team sets a simple table and the kitchen sends the first course just before sunset.

This note is part of the 2012 Tiera house collection. The press office can arrange further background, interviews and a selection of photographs.