The morning market winter

A basket of tomatoes and a small catch arrive before lunch. The menu follows their flavour, with a little oil and herbs from the terrace.

This note is part of the 2012 Tiera house collection. The press office can arrange further background, interviews and a selection of photographs.