The swimming terrace winter

Morning light moves across the pool before the first swimmers arrive. By afternoon, the shaded edge of the terrace becomes a reading room.

This note is part of the 2025 Tiera house collection. The press office can arrange further background, interviews and a selection of photographs.